SATURDAY..... DECEMBER 13, 1879.

The Conservative Party. "There is nothing that succeeds like success." But there is nothing that so tests a man's character as adversity. So when the sunshine of prosperity spreads over the whole political landscape, all who bask in it are in fine humor and have smiles for everybody; but when the clouds of adversity darken the heavens there are too few who can preserve their equanimity of temper and coolness of judgment even if they keep the faith.

When fore the assembling of the Legislature, im- a party is not assamed to say that petty pressed us as being anything more than the thieves ought not to be disfranchised nor temporary and accidental victory of a few whipped, that party is certainly in a highwhite men backed up by the negroes. We way which, if followed to the end, will have had the most positive assurances from land its adherents in communism. almost every quarter of the State that that victory, whatever else it was, was achieved by the negroes. One of the most respectable gentlemen residing in Loudoun county assures us that the vote cast for the Readjusters in his county was made up in the proportion of about three negroes to one white, and represented about one tenth of the property of the county. This is a specimen county. This is mentioned by way of illustration of the state of the case in almost every county in the State which the Readjusters carried. "The exceptions prove the rule," says the ding in style the other day. He and his old adage. And that there were a dozen or good lady received many valuable presents. more of exceptions we are willing to concede. But after all due allowances are made-after taking out the few localities in which a majority of the white men voted with the Readjusters, the fact is none the less apparent that if there was a victory for the Readjusters at the late election, that victory was a triumph of the negro and the defeat of the white man. We say we had never realized before the Legislature assembled that the Conservative party had suffered any other sort of a defeat than was involved in the temporary and accidental triumph of an unboly coalition. We knew our men. It was a contessed fact that the Conservative candidates had received the support of most of what were once supposed to be the best classes in the Commonwealth-that is, to state it in no stronger language, that they had received a majority of twenty thousand of the white But since the assembling of the Legislature we have heard of professed Conservatives who think it their duty to change the name of our party-to haul down the flag of the Conservative army. "If any man attempts to haul down that flag, shoot him on the spot." That flag floats over an army composed of the clergy, the press, the lawyers, and the tax-payers, (not all of them, of course, but a large majority of them;) but we are to take it down to please the leaders of the faction made up of negroes and whites, and hoist in its place one under which these leaders will be willing to march. Defeat is no disgrace. We would prefer infinitely to be eternally defeated rather than to make an ignoble surrender to the black-and-tan faction. But those who imagine that they can escape defeat by taking their flag out of sight, as buils inflamed to anger by a piece of red | wealth. bunting, are illogical and unphilosophical, and will only invite the fate which they seek to avert. An advancing army never surrenders to a retreating one. The tie that binds the masses to the Conservative party would be severed if the name of that | yesterday. glorious party were abandoned; and the disbanded soldiers might some of them join the standards of the despised Readjusters. Let us gird up our loins, friends. There is no reason to doubt the success of the Conservative party next year. The late triumph of a coalition between the whites and the negroes connot be repeated. The white people of Virginia are sound upon this question. The present is a mere fresh. The destroying waters are out of the banks; but only for a short period. The stream will soon return to its accustomed channel, leaving the dritt-wood upon the shore. Let us by all means not be drift-wood. But we are pressed for room, and will postpone further remarks to another day.

The Marion Patriot and Herald, whose editor was a candidate for Colonel SWANN'S place, declares that "the colored citizens were entitled to some consideration for the valuable aid they rendered the Readjusting party in the late election and are now rendering it in the Legislature."

We endorse that statement. No negro, adjuster majority on any question before can dictate their own terms; and if they even demanded a negro United States senator the Readjusters would either have to give them the senator or fail to elect one. are at the mercy of their black allies. There is no telling yet what these colored troops will demand. Their white allies are not yet out of the woods.

We are rather inclined to commend the courtesy of the Page Courier than to quarclaim set up by us that most of the Repubday that he would vote against repealing it. So it may be with the Republicans. In the article to which the Courier alludes

we expressly said :

"The reader will observe that our classifleation of the members assumes nothing as the vote was taken, and resulted on joint to how they will vote in electing officers or a ballot: United States senator. We give the names For Mr. Rogers only of men supposed to be opposed to disturbing the McCulloch settlement," &c.

Could any language be more guarded? Nevertheless, we might as well confess that we have lost much of our confidence in the correctness of that classification. But if the Courier knew how we came to make it, it. would acknowledge that any paper might have been misled in the same way.

WELL SAID .- An Ohlo man is reported as saying that what gives a party strength is to have the nerve to stand by the right, no matter whether they win or lose. We commend this saying to the Conservatives debate on the resolution to postpone the of Virginia. A FRANK AVOWAL .- You don't believe that there is an alliance between the negroes and the Readjusters? Then read the following brazen declaration of the Marion Patriot and Herald, whose editor was a Readjuster candidate for Superintendent of the Penitentiary:

Mr. DANIEL, of Lynchburg, made his first speech of the session of any length. He nominated Colonel Thomas Carter, a cou-in of General Lee. He discussed at length and with scathing invective the combination existing in the Legislature between the colored Republicans and the Readjusters. He denounced in most eloquent words the no Readjuster victory. No negro, no Re- party of the Readjusters for going before the people on one issue-to wit, a reduction of the interest on the public debt-and then the Legislature. The Readjusters are help- after their election by negro votes, gotten by less in the hands of the negroes. PERSONAL EXPLANATIONS.

Mr. PAYNE arose to a personal explanation. He said that he found in the Rich-mond Whig of this morning some language attributed to the gentleman from Rockbridge in his speech of yesterday. He did not hear the remarks to which he was alluding, but as they are placed within quotation marks in the print he presumed that they were correctly given. He read: "Mr. FRAZIER, continuing, said Mr. BARBOUR and Staturday) at 12 M. for interment in Hollywood. (Saturday) at 12 M. for interment in Hollywood. All who respect his memory are invited to attend. nis so-called bonorable Debt-Payers are now playing the rôle of cowards in standing apon this floor begging terms of those they so recently denounced, instead of, like hon orable men, acknowledging their defeat."

Mr. PAYNE did not claim to be a parliamentarian, but he thought he knew what was offensive. As he understood this language, it was offensive, and broad enough to cover himself. He desired to ask the member from Rockbridge-first, if the language was intended to be offensive; second, f it was meant to cover him [Mr. PAYNE]?

Mr. FRAZIER said he was glad of the opportunity to explain his position. It was no wonder that, smarting under the at-tacks made upon his friends, he had said something exasperating. But he would state candidly that he did not wish to be offensive to any who had not been offensive to them; he only wished to defend his side-nothing more. The gentleman from Fauquier had always been very courteous to them, and Mr. FRAZIER disclaimed any and all design to be offensive to him. There was no such purpose on his

Mr. PAYNE said that, understanding the gentleman as not meaning to be offensive, and not including him, he accepted the explanation. Mr. PAYNE expected to receive and give hard blows, but hoped to keep The paster, Rev. WILLIAM E. HATCHER. D. D., within parliamentary bounds. If he became personal he would make all the apology he could; where he could not, they knew what course to pursue.
